Terms of Use

Use of this website is governed by the following terms. We may make changes to these terms and your continued use of this website after we have made any such changes will signify your consent to the changes. Specific terms may also apply to the provision of any of the services that we provide via this website. You should check any specific terms that apply to the services which you use.

We reserve the right to alter, suspend or discontinue any part of the website or the services provided through it, including your access to it. Whilst we make every effort to ensure that the information contained within this website is correct, visitors should be aware that the information may have become out of date and we give no warranty or make any representation regarding the fitness for purpose, continued availability, quality, accuracy or completeness of the content of this website. Accordingly, the materials on this website do not give specific legal advice and should not be relied on as doing so. In particular you should be aware that laws and regulations might be different outside England and Wales. Your use of this website does not create a contractual or solicitor-client relationship between you and Addleshaw Goddard. We recommend you contact the advisers who are named in the website for advice about particular matters. Addleshaw Goddard excludes all liability for any kind of loss or damage that may result to you or a third party in connection with the use, inability to use, or the results of use of this website.

Website visitors are permitted to read the contents and to download and store on a temporary basis any of the contents of this website provided this is for their own personal or non-commercial use. Apart from content specifically made available for download, such as publications, you may not permanently copy, store or redistribute the contents of this website in any way.

Where we make content available for downloading this is only for your personal use, or circulation within your business and is not for commercial re-use. You may not set up links from your own websites to Addleshaw Goddard 's website without our prior written consent.

Any links to other websites from this website are provided for convenience only and Addleshaw Goddard accepts no responsibility or liability in connection with your use or reliance on the content of any linked website. The inclusion of any link does not imply endorsement by Addleshaw Goddard of any linked website or its provider.

For further information on the use of materials from this site, or if you experience any problems with this site, please contact us by writing to the Corporate Affairs Senior Manager at our Leeds office (Sovereign House, Sovereign Street, Leeds LS1 1HQ).

Data Protection

We take data protection seriously and safeguarding the privacy of our website visitors is important to us. Our Privacy Policy forms an integral part of these terms and conditions and should be read in conjunction with these terms.
